"Rooted in the tradition of bluegrass, the music of Head for the Hills is a high-energy mixture of homegrown compositions, traditional harmonies, and an innovative approach to both exploration as well as improvisation."

Head for the Hills is proud to present their debut full-length studio album. The album titled "Robber's Roost" took place over a 6 month period in Denver, CO recording studio Notably Fine Audio.

In their short but prosperous career, Head for the Hills has performed and shared the stage with the likes of: David Grisman, Pete Wernick (Hot Rize), Drew Emmitt, and members of Yonder Mountain String Band among many others. In addition, Head for the Hills has produced and headlined their own multi day music and camping festival titled Pickin' on the Poudre which annually attracts over 1,200 enthusiastic concert goers. Glasser has also mastered over 60 Grammy nominated records. With direction from two esteemed musical veterans, Head for the Hills is primed and ready to bring their dynamic sound to the ears of listeners far wide.
